"This foundation and its many supporters are committed to providing assistance to local organizations that are engaged in programming to make a difference in the lives of our community and its residents. The twice-yearly grant cycles are the way we accomplish that. We always receive interesting and worthy applications," said Robert Hanseman, chair of the Foundation's grant committee.

The Foundation reviews grant applications two times per year. The deadline for submitting grant applications for the fall cycle is September 1. Grant applications are on the Foundation's web site, centervillewashingtonfoundation.org.

The Centerville-Washington Foundation exists to be a community partner for corporate and individual charitable giving, assisting in the formation and preservation of charitable donations, providing services to donors and non-profit organizations, and serving as a source of funds for community groups.
